An Open Polar Sea

To the Editor of the New York Tribune

The statement published in the New York Tribune of to-day that a whale had been captured north of Behring's Strait which had in its body a harpoon belonging to a ship which was known to be cruising on the other side of the continent, is another link in the long chain of evidence that establishes the fact of an open Polar Sea Many years ago a similar incident was discovered in Nantucket, when that port was the great whaling station of the world A harpooner who had just arrived from a whaling voyage discovered a harpoon at his boarding house, and recognized it as a weapon which he had lost in a whale in Baffin's Bay To his surprise he was informed that the whale had been captured off the coast of Japan in which the harpoon had been found by its new owner and on the men comparing dates is was found that not 30 days had intervened from the loss of the harpoon until the final capture of the whale

Of course it was impossible that the animal could have gone around Cape Horn in thirty days, but many believe this to be the true solution of the enigma, and cast doubts upon the statements of the harpooners But these sailors were examined under oath the officers of their respective vessels were communicated with and nothing could shake the correctness of their first statements The logs of hundreds of vessels were compared, with a view to learn the habits of the right whale, and to try and discover other circumstances which would strengthen the now growing belief of a Polar Sea Much important testimony was elicited by these examinations It was discovered that the northern and southern right whales were distinct species the former never going further south than the 30th parallel, while the latter never go above the 49th parallel of south latitude, the heated seas of the tropics being apparently a sea of fire through which neither cared to pass So the Cape Horn theory fell to the ground In corroboration of the Polar Sea theory were the facts that the breeding grounds of the right whale of the north had never been discovered, that these animals visited the Arctic regions periodically for that purpose, and that an open sea with a temperature moderate enough to admit of the growth of the proper sustenance for young whales, must exist, in that region Then from the fact that currents of cold water reached the equator, with an increase of only seven degrees in temperature, the deduction was made that currents of warm water, from the equator might reach the North Pole, with a corresponding decrease of temperature, which would make it about 75 degrees, or 74 degrees warmer than the mean temperature of the waters of the known Arctic regions The probable effect of a body of water of such a degree of temperature, near the pole, was, of course, manifest to all The waters of such a sea would be teeming with life, while its shores would be covered with verdure, even though it was shut off from the rest of the world by an apparently impenetrable barrier of ice Then arose the various exploring expeditions, one after the other proving unsuccessful, the most disastrous of which was the unfortunate expedition of Sir John Franklin The lamented Dr Kane discovered an open body of water, but whether it was the true Polar Sea, or some smaller body of water lying adjacent to it, is a question for further expeditions to discover. B

NEW YORK, Dec 27, 1870

France and Her Future

The New York Herald, in the course of an article on the condition and future of France, has these observations

The future government of France, in the broad and radical sense of the term, will now be regulated according to the interests and determination of victorious Germany The Germans are very thorough, very searching, very scientific in their theory as well as their practice, and it is not merely a king or an emperor or a diplomatist who will have to settle the future condition of France, but the scientific mind of Germany at large Emperors and diplomatists will be but the organ of this vast general purpose of the Teutonic people And we may be satisfied that the question will be dealt with not upon any humanitarian or cosmopolitan grounds, but the single principle of disabling France from ever renewing her attack again upon the united Germany which for the first time comes into political existence It is not altogether the most pleasant idea in the world, but we may be sure that France henceforward will be dependent and disarmed, and that from the vantage ground of Metz and Strasbourg the vigilant German mind and eye and arm will henceforward keep inexorable watch over the defeated people repressing every tendency to military resurrection Such government as France can form now will be the creature of the necessity of the hour, and virtually, though not formally, the offspring of the conqueror s will And he will consult, first of all, his own necessity and interest, thinking only in the second glance of unhappy France

Want of Forethought and System

We make the following extract from "Walks and Talks on a Farm," in the January number of the American Agriculturist It gives a good illustration of the want of forethought and system that characterizes too many of our farmers and those employed on farms Hard physical work will accomplish much, but "think before you act, and much time and labor may be saved

"I have had a man of more than ordinary intelligence who would month after month, come empty handed from the barn to the house to get the milk pails, and then after he had brought in the milk walk emptyhanded back to the barn to get his swill pails, to carry the slop to the pigs It never occurred to him that by bringing the swill pails when he came up for the milk pails he might have saved just half the time The same man would carry hay from the cow barn past the stack of corn stalks to feed sheep, and after he was through feeding the sheep would go an equal number of journeys to get stalks and carry them back to the barn for the cows And this want of forethought and system characterized the entire day's work He was an industrious faithful man, but when a gate sagged he had no time—as he honestly thought—to straighten up the post or put a nail in a loose board No time to sweep out the tool shop nor sharpen the tools and keep them in their proper place no time to tighten a hoop on a barrel nor wedge a fork that was loose in the socket no time to pick up a piece of board that he walked past a dozen times a day and so with a hundred little things that make all the difference between profit and loss in farming

"As a rule, no excuse is so utterly without foundation as the common one of want of time' A man may have more work than he can do, but the reason is not the want of time, but a want of physical or mental strength and nervous energy We think too much, perhaps, of economizing time, and too little of economizing strength What we do we should do with our might—and then rest And we can rest by using other muscles or faculties as a tailor that has been sitting on the board all day takes rest by walking or standing

Joseph Medill of the Chicago Tribune publishes a letter in the New York Tribune in which he presents a plan for getting ships over the Isthmus of Darien through a canal with locks to be fed by water forced up by steam pumps His plan is regarded as practicable and efforts will be made to give it a place in the Darien Canal project

Loss of the U S Steamer Saginaw

FULL PARTICULARS—TERRIBLE SUFFERINGS OF THE CREW

From the Hawaiian Gazette of Dec 28th we obtain fuller particulars of the loss of the U S Steamer Saginaw We quote

It is our painful duty to record the loss of the United States steamer Saginaw on the morning of Saturday, October 29th, on Ocean Island, one of the numerous small and barren sand islets which comprise the chain beginning at French Frigate shoals and extending some 1 200 to 1 400 miles across the ocean Very few provisions were saved from the ship, although she did not entirely go to pieces until the morning of the 14th of November when the after part, which had held together till then,

WENT TO PIECES

On the 18th of November, Lieutenant Talbot, the executive officer and four of the crew, namely Peter Francis, quartermaster James Muir, John Andrew, and William Halford coxswain, all of whom had volunteered for the expedition, left the island in the ship s gig with the hope of reaching these islets and to obtain assistance The boat experienced very heavy weather, having been obliged to 'heave to' in three severe gales, and losing all the oars that were on board After incredible suffering the crew in the boat

SIGHTED KAUAI

On the eighteenth of December, having been at sea in a small boat for thirty days, all of them being quite exhausted from long exposure and the hardships suffered during their perilous voyage of over one thousand miles After sighting the land the wind shifted to the northwest, with heavy rain squalls, during which the boat was

DRIFTED AWAY FROM THE LAND

With great effort she was beat up again on the night of the 19th Unfortunately, in approaching the shore near Hanalei, the boat got into the breakers and was capsized—the crew being so weak and exhausted that they could do but little to direct her course

Halford, the surveyor, succeeded in getting one of his companions on shore, but he was so far gone that he died in a short time, On the same day the bodies of Lieutenant Talbot and one of the seamen were washed ashore, and were taken charge of by Mr Bindt, manager of the Hanalei plantation They were buried next day at Hanalei together with the man who had died on shore

THE GIG

In which Lieutenant Talbot and his crew took passage for these islands, had been raised a few inches and decked over preparatory to making the passage She was provisioned for thirty five days at half rations when she started from Ocean Island, but during the heavy gales experienced, a large portion of it was spoiled by the salt water and was thrown overboard. This misfortune made it necessary for the crew to put themselves on still shorter rations, causing great suffering At the time of the arrival of the boat off Kauai, there were no provisions left except a few spoonsful of a preparation of potatoes which was mixed with water and eaten by the almost famished crew Fortunately the supply of water held out, there being some sixteen gallons left

AFTER THE BOAT CAPSIZED

In the surf Wm Halford clung to the boat for some time, when he saw James Muir still in the boat (Lieutenant Talbot, Peter Francis and John Andrews having been washed overboard), in a state of stupor Halford made him fast to the deck, and taking a tin box containing papers and dispatches, went on shore, the boat having in the meantime been thrown into shoal water by the surf. Returning to the boat he took the chronometer ashore, and again returning, took his exhausted companion and carried him safely to land, making a bed for him as best he could from the few old cloths he could get from the boat

HE SHOWED MOST HEROIC FORTITUDE,

As our readers will appreciate, when they reflect that he had been exposed for so many days in the boat upon merely enough food to sustain life, besides having been further exhausted in his efforts to keep hold of the boat during the time she was in the surf News arrived in Honolulu of the disaster on Saturday when steps were immediately taken to send relief to the wrecked people on Ocean Island The schooner Kona Packet was dispatched on Saturday evening with provisions and water by the American Minister Resident On Monday, owing to the uncertain state of the weather, and the probability that the schooner might be a long time in reaching the island, his Excellency requested the Government that the steamer Kilauea might be dispatched on the mission The steamer was promptly placed at his disposal, and the proper quantity of coal for the voyage and provisions having been placed on board, she sailed at half-past five o'clock on Monday evening It is to be hoped that she will make a quick passage as the wrecked crew—some ninety in number—were placed at once, after the disaster, on quarter rations, and require aid as soon as it can be rendered them

The Director of the Mint proposes to relieve us of shinplasters A pious proposition How to do it he is clear-seeing. The way is plain to the right minded, and the Director seems to know his business If the Government would authorize him to coin small change of from five to fifty cents, out of silver alloyed to nearly the paper standard, say about fifteen per cent, the rags can all be superseded and the people once more have a foretaste of hard money worth very nearly what it calls for It is true that our paper postals do not tell very great lies They come within about 16½ of the truth—the same as all rags of a larger denomination, but our nickels lie most egregiously, and the amount is so small as to render the lie ludicrous in the extreme But the Director proposes to stamp too much falsehood upon his proposed coins He places the value of these tokens at 36 4 cents for half dollars, 18 3 for quarters and 17 13 for dimes, and thinks this reaction will counteract any tendency to hoard or export them

Countess Gergarin, one of the most respected ladies in France, has sent a petition for peace to the Government of Tours and the headquarters of the King at Versailles. This petition has been signed by twenty thousand eight hundred and forty-one women of France, and closes The undersigned do not presume to give counsel, but we fold our hands and pray to both nations that they put an end to irretrievable ruin and bloodshed

In the manufacture of silverware in the United States about fifteen hundred workmen are employed About one million ounces of silver are annually melted Add to this the expense of manufacture, and the amount of silverware annually sold will be about five millions of dollars Two houses in New York sell about one fourth of the whole product

A correspondent inside of Paris writes to the London Daily News 'We are by no means a very happy family General Ducrot and General Blanchard have hard words The latter in the course of the dispute said to the former If your sword were as long as your tongue you would be a wonderful warrior indeed '

Marshal Canrobert intends to reside permanently in Stuttgart, Germany He has sent for his family General Wimpfen the officer who signed the capitulation of Sedan who lives in Cannstadt, a suburb of Stuttgart can be seen continually on horseback at that place, escorting a pretty lady, also on horseback

CALIFORNIA ITEMS

California papers call the recent decision of the Supreme Court of that State to which we alluded the other day, "the nullification decision "

The San Francisco Alta of January 9th has the annexed A pacing horse, Telegraph, was so severely driven yesterday, on the Cliff House road, that he fell helpless opposite the Turf House and had to be carried bodily to the stable to be cared for He had been driven five times from the tank on the hill to the Turf House, in a race, and finally fell exhausted

William Reese, of Oregon Gulch, Butte county, was found murdered in front of his house and quartz mill, on Monday last He had been shot in the back of the head, and, it is believed a quantity of amalgam was stolen from the house A man who had been in the vicinity three days, who gave his name as Robert McDonald, is suspected of the murder. He is still at large

The Marysville Charity Lottery is having an up hill time of it, having been involved in a multiplicity of suits through the manipulation of San Francisco authorities It seems to an outsider very much as if the sudden access of virtuous horror among San Franciscans, at this lottery gambling, was the result of a disposition not to let the outside cities draw back any of the money so plentifully drawn from them by the mammoth San Francisco lottery.

A Woman at the Bottom

The latest sensation regarding the present war in Europe, is a story that is going the rounds of the press to the effect that it was brought about through the efforts of a woman to gratify her ambition, and a Yankee woman at that James E Harvey, editor of the Washington Patriot, late minister to Portugal, first gave the story publicity in this country The story goes that a Miss E Hensler, born in Boston and educated for the operatic stage in Italy, after a professional career of no remarkable brilliancy, attracted the attention of Don Fernando, father of the King of Portugal and married him having first received the title of Countess d Edla to obliterate her American nativity, that the great efforts were made by Prim to induce Don Fernando to accept the Spanish throne before his marriage, which were promptly and almost rudely repulsed, but that after his marriage, and appealing to his affection for his wife and the honors to be bestowed upon her, he finally consented to become a candidate Then followed a long course diplomatic negotiations Don Fernando making numerous conditions not necessary here to enumerate, until it finally came down to the question of the honor or title to be conferred upon Mrs Don Fernando The plucky Yankee girl then stood on dignity She must be Queen The Spanish Minister offered her everything else she could demand She might be a duchess or a grandee, but finally declared that she could never be Queen This settled the matter Don Fernando, sensitive of his wife s position, peremptorily declined the throne It was offered to the Prince of Hohenzollern, and the result has been the great war that is now waging in France, the momentous events of which have no parallel in history If the story then be true the dethronement of Napoleon, the siege of Paris, the unification of Germany, and the numerous other great events growing out of the conflict, all came of a plucky Yankee girl standing up "manfully for her rights, which were only denied her because of her American nativity

It is said that when the waves carry a lobster up into the rock, and leaves him there, high and dry, there he remains perfectly inactive, waiting for the waves to come and wash him off again And should the waves fail to reach him he miserably dies when by a little exertion of his own he could have reached the water which was lying only a few feet from him So it is with some men When the waves of fortune leave them high and dry on the rocks of adversity, they wait to be borne off again, without making any effort of their own Young men, don t be like a silly lobster.

The "Count Joannes," or vulgarly, George Jones, of New York, occupies five columns of a paper published in that city to prove that he has discovered the real murderer of Benjamin Nathan of Twenty third street He mentions no names in the course of his singular narration, which is doubtless a fabrication from beginning to end The press and the bar of New York regard him as a harmless lunatic and the wonder is that he could have imposed his pretended revelation on any respectable journal If his statement is true why does he withhold names? Why should he delay in turning over the guilty parties to the officers of the law?

Official accounts up to the 20th of November, and including all the great battles fought up to that date, give the losses by the Germans in the war as less than 100,000 But 17 000 were killed in battle 20,000 are reported missing, of whom 5,000 are prisoners. There were 60,000 of the wounded At the date of this report the losses from sickness were small Since the siege of Paris they have probably been much greater The report estimates a fighting force of 1 000 000 of whom 700,000 were in France This fighting force has not been diminished but all the regiments have been gradually filled up Since the 20th of November the losses have probably been another 100 000, so that the total loss to date may run as high as 200,000, all told The French prisoners alone are not less than 300 000 and their total losses cannot possibly fall below 400,000

For Repudiators to Consider

A paragraph from a London paper, which we have already given to our readers, in which it is stated plainly that England can borrow money on better terms than the United States can, simply because it is not certain that we are so willing to pay as England is —or to put it differently because there are doubts about our honesty produced by the continual croakings of repudiators among us —is a text which is worthy of general attention The simple statement of such a fact by a foreign authority ought to shame into silence those who still have a habit of attacking the credit of our country by clamoring for repudiation

Men who attack the credit of their own country are apt to point to other nations as examples of superior solvency "Look at England,' say our repudiators now, "she can borrow at three per cent, while we have to pay six Her credit is good in every market of the world though she is old, full-grown and staggering under an immense debt while we, young, prosperous and with a financial future before us which excites [illegible] confessed envy, have to go begging abroad, and can raise money in our own markets only at a double rate of interest' [illegible] This is a sorry tale, to be sure, but it [illegible] does not argue in favor of breach of [illegible] contracts England's credit in [illegible] national trial, was not so [illegible] many suppose, but [illegible] and the case with which she can borrow at home or [illegible] depend solely upon the invincible and unswerving resolution with which the British Government has always met its money obligations to the very [illegible] We do not stand in such a creditable position because our demagogues and our small fry politicians [illegible] one party or another are always ready to preach repudiation whenever they fancy they can make political capital by it.

England is not half so able to pay her debt as we are to pay [illegible] She has nothing like the [illegible] that we [illegible] All the world knows that we are more able to pay [illegible] she [illegible] Yet her credit is the best in the world, and ours, though it has gained a good deal of late is still far behind Our repudiators have met with rebukes in the general elections but they are not silenced Throughout the world it is known that they [illegible] hostile leagues toward the national debt [illegible] know [illegible] the repudiators may yet obtain political power This is what has been the matter with our credit for years The conclusion is irresistible that if we are to have England's credit we must adhere to England's plan of strict regard for pecuniary obligations and cherish her honest and holy horror of repudiation

New York journals republish from the European papers a [illegible] of the secret papers of the Empire which were left to the mercy of its enemies in the Tuileries after the collapse at Sedan A correspondent of the New York Tribune reviews some of these papers In them as he shows, there are historical inspirations worthy of the Annals of Tacitus or the lives of Suetonius The Empire was a grand organized [illegible] of deception pretense and fabrication It is revealed that except in a single case all the attempts upon the life of the Emperor were the work of the police they were Machiavelian pretenses conceived by courtiers for the purpose of exalting an Emperor who was capable of aiding such base acts The greater portion of the Imperial press was edited in the salons of the Emperor with the aid of eighty prefects lodged in eighty Babylonian palaces Some of these publications pretended to make opposition and talked of independence Opposition to the Government was fabricated as was fabricated the attempts upon the life of [illegible]

All the other schemes of the Emperor and his parasites were worked up in a corresponding manner The documents show that a pretext was sought for a war with Germany and the creatures of the Emperor worked it up The rottenness of the Imperial Government in every Department is believed to have been without a parallel France yielded to all this, and France is now grievously answering for it

The [illegible] itself from the difficulties of its position on the tariff question by declaring that Hamilton Madison and other great men of its party are no sufficient authority as to the constitutional power of Congress to enact a tariff for protection Since we have brought the Herald to this point we are very well content to dismiss the subject At first it declared that the founders of its party the great Democratic prophets never sanctioned protection It is now [illegible] to admit that they did sanction and advocate it, but denies that they are good authority on the subject 'Tis a great pity that those men in their day couldn't [illegible] had the benefit of the counsel of the pettegogue and saw dust man who speaks so oracularly in these latter times through the 'Oregon litigant organ" Every one of them, in his blindness was a sturdy protectionist, and didn't know the doctrine was unconstitutional If Gen Jackson and the rest of them were alive, the 'litigant organ' would surely read them out of the party

The New York Tribune notes it as an interesting fact that the war between Germany and France casually demonstrated the truth that the shortest line of communication between the mouth of the Amoor river and St Petersburg is by way of Puget Sound and New York city It adds that when the Northern Pacific Railroad is completed and a line of steamers runs between the Amoor and Puget Sound, not only will the East Russian mails come through New York, but an immense trade which is now dormant or non existent, will pass over that road to take shipping at the port of New York

CONGRESSMAN MORRISSEY IN A FIGHT —The New York Times of December 31st relates the annexed incident

The 'Capital,' Jem Mace's drinking place in Twenty third street, was on Wednesday evening the scene of almost bloodshed At a table were seated a number of men, among whom were Hon. John Morrissey and George Hill, alias Keye, a desperate character Hill spat deliberately in Morrissey's face, whereupon Morrissey drew a derringer Hill drew his revolver and bloodshed was imminent when Jem Mace, the pugilist, carried Morrissey in his arms to an adjoining apartment and locked him in. Hill paced to and fro, shouting for Morrissey's blood Both were intoxicated, and through the timely intervention of Mace a bloody fight was prevented The whole affair is being quieted, and attempts are made to keep it from the public Mace is sorry that such a disgraceful affair should have occurred at his place

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON CITY

OREGON RESOLUTIONS AND MEMORIALS

Mr Smith and Senator Williams have received from the Secretary of State of Oregon the memorials and joint resolutions of the last Oregon Legislative Assembly. Mr Smith will introduce them in the House on Monday, and in a few days Mr Williams will introduce them in the Senate They are as follows

A memorial asking Congress to extend the time to 1872 for the Governor to select twelve salt springs with six sections of land each, and ten sections more on any of the public lands, to assist in building the public buildings of Oregon

A memorial asking Congress to appropriate seventy five thousand dollars for the improvement of the Umpqua river

A memorial asking Congress for an appropriation of land, to aid in the construction of a wagon road from Winnemucca, Nevada to the town of Pendleton in Umatilla county, Oregon

A memorial asking Congress to grant three alternate sections of land per mile, to aid in the construction of a wagon road from Sag Harbor, on Smith's river, in Douglas county, to Siuslaw Valley, in Lane county

A joint resolution asking the Oregon Senators and Representatives to use their influence to cause the Oregon Branch and Pacific Railroad, of Jacksonville, Oregon, to be designated as the company which shall receive any and all donations, subsidies or land grants, in aid of the construction of a line of railroad and telegraph from a point on the Central Pacific, near the north bend of the Humboldt river, by the nearest and most practicable route to a point on the Oregon and California Railroad in Rogue river valley

A joint resolution instructing the Oregon Senators and requesting the Oregon member [illegible] honorable means to procure a grant of land to aid in the construction of a railroad from some point on the Central Pacific Railroad near Promontory Point, to the North Pacific Railroad, east of Portland, Oregon

A joint resolution instructing the Oregon Senators and requesting the Oregon member to procure an appropriation of four hundred thousand dollars to construct a canal and locks around the falls of the Wallamet at Oregon City

A memorial asking Congress for an appropriation to improve the Clackamas rapids and the Willamet river to Eugene City to the amount reported by Col Williamson, U S Topographical Engineer, as necessary for the work

A joint resolution, asking Congress to grant land to aid in the construction of a railroad from Corvallis, in Benton county, to Yaquina Bay

A joint resolution instructing the Oregon members and Senators to secure the approval of the Commissioner of the General Land [illegible] indemnity School Land sections

A joint resolution, stating that the Indians on the Grand Round Indian Reservation have decreased until there is not now more than one-tenth of the original number remaining, and in consequence thereof, asks Congress to decrease their reservation and open it to white settlement north of the Agency.

A memorial asking Congress to extend the boundaries of the State of Oregon so as to include all south of Snake river

A memorial asking Congress to establish the following mail routes

From Ashland by Brown's, Link river, Lost river, Drew's valley, Hot Springs in Goose Lake valley to Lake City in California. One from Yreka by Ward's on Klamath river, California Brown's on Link river, Klamath Agency and Fort Klamath Oregon

Last but not least this great Democratic praying Assembly of Oregon, rejects the 15th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and insults the National Legislature from whom she asks so many special favors, by declaring that the United States has no authority to interfere with the conditions of suffrage within the boundaries of Oregon, without her consent, and that the National Legislature had sought "by means of an arbitrary majority of votes, acquired by the power of the bayonet to force upon the several states the so called 15th Amendment in flagrant violation of the terms under which the State of Oregon was admitted into their sisterhood of States "

Oregon's wants are many as expressed in the foregoing numerous memorials and joint resolutions but she may expect to get but few with such insults as the latter

A resolution expressing the same vindictive partisan feelings on the same subject was refused to be received and was returned by the House two years ago This may expect a similar fate Oregon rebel Democracy can't learn wisdom by experience Sensible prudent men should not ask favors, and, in the same breath indirectly tell a majority of those that are able to grant the favors, "you have violated the Constitution deliberately, and thereby perjured yourselves "

The Storm in Washington Territory.

[From the Olympia Transcript, Jan 14]

[illegible] the last ten days, the heaviest rain [illegible] which the country has experienced [illegible] the last three years The rains for the first few days of the storm raised the rivers very suddenly, carrying away bridges in many places and severely damaging the roads The bridge across the Skookum Chuck river was carried away several days ago and many of the little bridges and corduroys along the mail route to Monticello have been washed away or damaged, so much so that no through stage has come in since Monday On Wednesday evening, a way mail, containing about two letters, which left Monticello on Monday, came in, being packed on a man's back ten or fifteen miles On Tuesday the rains abated a little, when the stage company sent out a force and cleared out the road of fallen timber and repaired corduroys and it was thought on Thursday the stages would come through, but the severe rains since that time have undoubtedly set everything afloat again Large amounts of mail matter are collected at Monticello, Pumphrey's and Claquato, for the Sound country The agent of the mail company went out yesterday to get the mails through The road over the Cowlitz mountain is reported blocked with timber, and the swamps beyond flooded with water The roads in every direction are in an almost impassable condition The Nisqually river was over its banks several days ago The telegraph lines can be kept up but a little while at a time On Thursday they were down to the north and Superintendent Lamb and Mr Pitts had to take the road as repairers The rivers in King county are also flooded and the people have had to drive their stock to the highlands During the lull of the storm on the cold morning of Tuesday the snow fell at this place about half an inch deep, and at Seattle about three inches, while at Steilacoom there was none worth mention

Punch is usually spiteful to America Pistol shows himself specially ridiculous when swaggering about the Alabama—eating the leek in bits The last effort is in this wise

Three British Blunders—We made three great mistakes in our conduct toward the United States government respecting the Alabama affair In the first place, we should never have admitted that we might possibly have been to blame at all In the next, on the contrary, we ought to have complained to them for not having agreed with us to abolish privateering In the third, we should have sent them in a tremendous bill on account of the loss we had to sustain in consequence of the cotton famine These are the things which had our places been reversed, they would certainly have done themselves

Several very valuable letters by Major Taggart, U S A written from this place, have recently appeared in the Philadelphia Press and Washington Chronicle The writer appreciates Oregon, and in discussing the present condition and future prospects of the State he does his subject justice The publication of such letters at the East cannot but be very useful to Oregon

How Prince Salm Salm Met His Death

[European Letter to the N Y Evening Mail]

When I wrote and published in the Evening Mail a few weeks ago, some paragraphs of reminiscences entitled 'The Salm Salms' nothing, but the brief words announcing his death had been transmitted across the cable but I am now in possession of some interesting facts concerning the events which culminated in his death on the battle field of Gravelotte It is well known that he had a most enthusiastic attachment for the unfortunate Maximilian and counted it a high honor to share his captivity in Mexico The fate of that ill starred Emperor whose soul was as chivalrous as his judgment was weak provoked in him an almost frenzied desire to mete out vengeance to his French betrayers At Bazaine's door he, in great part laid all Maximilian's misfortunes, and he was mad to meet with him and reckon with him

During the years that elapsed between the downfall of the empire in Mexico and the breaking out of the present war these feelings burned within him with unabated ardor Joyfully he hailed the prospect of hostilities between France and Germany, and more joyfully still, when the time came did he press forward among the foremost to offer his services to assailed Germany The Princess Anes, who has always been as one with him in his way of thinking and acting went as gladly with him to the battle field, and took upon herself the trying duties of nurse in a field hospital The last words that he spoke to any one just before leaving Berlin for the front, were to the effect that it was his dearest wish as a soldier, to die in defending Germany from France, but that if he might add another—still dearer because more personal—it would be that he might meet Bazaine face to face, and with avenging shouts of 'Maximilian ' 'Queretaro ' press a loaded revolver to the traitor's breast

When on the 16th of August in consequence of the defeat at Woerth, Bazaine took the chief command of the French army, and the German guards were drawn up facing him, Prince Salm Salm exposed himself so recklessly that the other commanding officers expostulated earnestly with him He was then trying to cut his way up to Bazaine, and instead of heeding them he merely looked back over his shoulder, displaying a countenance which, naturally ruddy, was now inflamed by terrible and revengeful feelings, and cried out—

"Ah ' you cannot understand how I feel—you who have but a country to protect ' But I, in addition to this, have to avenge the death of my Emperor, who was also my friend "

Saying this, he held on in his rash and headlong course, and a few minutes later was struck by the fragment of a shell, which inflicted a mortal wound He dropped swiftly and silently, and was carried at once, in the arms of his men, to the very place where his wife was ministering to the wounded, and shortly after [illegible] died with his head on her [illegible]

"Maximilian ' Queretaro '" Doubtless, for poor Carlotta's sake, if for no other, the avenging cry will not die away all at once

Bazaine's Apology

Marshal Bazaine has written an apology for the surrender of Metz. It is in the form of a "Report" of the operations of his command, to be published in French and German at Berlin, and the Allgemeine Zeitung has been able to secure some extracts from it in advance The New York Tribune has the following observations upon it.

Bazaine's story of the mysterious negotiations for a surrender is interesting, even if it is not perfectly frank. The common opinion that Bazaine's attitude after the fall of the Empire was rather that of a scheming politician than that of a loyal soldier will be confirmed by this apology It never entered into his mind that the command of the greatest of the remaining French armies owed any allegiance to the de facto French Government, and when his provisions began to run short he sent Gen Boyer to Versailles to ascertain what concessions he could individually obtain from King William "in the interest both of the army and of peace." General Boyer reported on his return that it was impossible to treat with the Committee of Defense, and that the Constituent Assembly was indefinitely postponed He brought the terms of capitulation which the Prussians were willing to grant. We are not told what they were, but Bazaine found them too hard, and sent Boyer to the Empress in England in the hope that more favorable conditions might be obtained through her intervention This effort failed A proposition made through Gen Changarnier, that the army should be allowed to retire into Africa, was rejected by the Prussians, and finally Bazaine surrendered on terms which are well known

Of course the precise character of Bazaine's negotiations with the enemy is not divulged in this report, we are expected to content ourselves with the assurance that his only object was to "preserve the army of France" But it is evident that he must have had something to offer King William in exchange for the extraordinary concessions he demanded, and it is not difficult for us to imagine what that something was To "preserve the army for France" meant, with Bazaine, to preserve it for the Emperor, and his apology, upon the whole, will tend to confirm the belief that he was anxious to join hands with Prussia in forcibly restoring the fallen dynasty, and making peace on the basis of a territorial cession

How Europe Begins the Year

A CONTRAST WITH ONE YEAR AGO.

[From the N Y Tribune.]

The opening of 1870 found Europe apparently entered on an era of peaceful progress, the beginning of 1871 finds it distracted by a series of actual and possible quarrels, the end of which no man can divine France began the year as an Empire, bent on liberal reform—she ends it as a Republic fighting with all the energy of despair for the honor of her name and the integrity of her territory Germany was, a year ago, divided between two confederations of States, somewhat jealous and distrustful of each other—now, she stands forth one and indivisible, with an Imperial head and a common patriotism fed by the consciousness of a community of race and interest and a well-tried brotherhood in arms Great Britain thought the Irish question the greatest of her troubles a year ago Now she feels instinctively that the moment is approaching when she must fight for her place in Europe, and she would fain be disburdened of the dead weight of the Alabama claims that she may fight the more freely Russia was withdrawn into her customary isolation last New Year's Day—now she has come again into the arena of nations, to demand her rights with her hand upon her sword A year ago Spain was seeking vainly for a King—now she has found one, the Pope was enthroned among the prelates of every part of the Catholic world—now he is a subject in his own city, and of but little account with the statecraft of Europe It can hardly be that 1871 will bring greater changes—it may be that it bears in its bosom events as great

PRESIDENT GRANT —It is not often that a public man so successfully overrides detraction and calumny as General Grant has done Ever since his election he has encountered more malicious slanders and libels than any public officer in our history The libels that have been hurled at his character have been of the very worst sort possible—such as charges of venality and fraud—charges that have been woven with the most consummate skill into a web of fiction, bearing all the very similitude that art could give it Grant is the most unguarded man that ever stood conspicuously before the people, and every advantage has been taken of his ingenuousness to secure a woof for the tissue of lies that his enemies have told These falsehoods have been spun too, with the most remarkable persistence the most persevering obstinacy, and the most systematic artfulness of any lies ever fabricated against an innocent man

But Grant has lived them all down He stands to-day at the head of the nation without a single one of these calumnies believed by any mentionable number of the people of this country He holds up his head, unscathed by the arrows of persecution, and his character is purer and brighter in the estimation of three fourths of the inhabitants of the Union to-day than when he was the admired and beloved commander of our army on its return from victory four years and a half ago

The simple fact is that Grant is an honest man So his reputation to-day, after all the abuse and malignity and villainy that has been encountered is purer and brighter than ever —Chicago Post

FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 20, 1871.

CITY.

A Talented Joker.—There are not many people who would have supposed that a good joke could be squeezed out of so grave a subject as small pox and yet it has been done It has been reserved for our frolicsome friend Hallock to do this thing Those who read our report of Council proceedings in yesterday's paper, have noticed and appreciated the joke So far as the joke per se is concerned, we acknowledge it a good one—a palpable hit—and we confess to having suddenly conceived an additional admiration for the man who being weighted by the cares of a city full,' can yet rise to the sublime height of [illegible]ion whether it be the utterance of his [illegible]" on railroad subsidies in general, or the consideration of the most effectual means of spreading and perpetuating the small pox Having owned the corn as to the joke, we wish to press the inquiry as to the disregard of the law by our police authorities Since writing on this subject before, we have learned that, notwithstanding it was thought best to prosecute and fine a physician for not reporting a case of small pox, "we" had talked the whole matter over and had come to the conclusion that it was best not to hang out any flags Though we are not prepared to say who may be included in the term "we," we do not have any hesitation in stating the reasonable belief that the persons are the Board of Police Commissioners, the Chief of Police, and possibly others Now let us see what right "we" had to conclude it best not to hang out any flags The ordinance providing for the management of contagious diseases was passed April 1862 It provides that any physician failing to report a case of small pox upon which he may have been called to attend, shall be fined upon conviction not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars, for each offense Our city authorities have acknowledged the binding force of this enactment by prosecuting and fining a physician. Section 4 of the same ordinance provides that the owner or occupant of any house, store, building or tenement, wherever any person may have the small pox or any other dangerous and contagious disease, shall give immediate notice to the public by placing a red flag in some conspicuous place on the [illegible], and "in case the owner or occupant of such house, store, building or tenement shall fail or neglect to place such flag as aforesaid, it is hereby made the duty of the Marshal of said city as soon as he is informed of the existence of such disease in any house, store, building or tenement, to cause such flag to be placed as aforesaid The penalty prescribed for failure or neglect to comply with the above provision is a fine of not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars. This is the law as in force this day, or rather as should be in force. It seems, however, that "we" have suspended it because "we" have concluded it not best to hang out any flags Now it may be pertinent and of some consequence to inquire who it is that thus suspends an ordinance of the Council, and by what authority or right. Are the Police Commissioners, then, above the laws of this city? If any association of men can, by talking the matter over, nullify this law, they can as well set aside any other law or order of the Council. We shall feel really obliged to our playful friend if he will show us how he can answer these queries satisfactorily A joke will be taken at the highest market rates, but a serious and sensible answer will, perhaps, be more satisfactory to the common, plain people who yet hold to the old fashioned notion that laws were made to be obeyed by all—officers as well as private citizens. There should be none so great, [illegible] aldermanic rotundity or in sesqui[illegible] (y in the Police Commission) as to be above the laws Such at least, is the good, old fogy notion that prevailed before this city [illegible] the benefits of a Police Commission

Real Estate. Those who have read our reports of real estate transactions for the past two weeks will have observed that there was almost a total lapse [illegible] from the 2d till the 9th of January very few of the deeds recorded were between those [illegible] and they were mostly of country property It will be remembered that just about that time the new town [illegible] was occupying much public attention and that just then also was the period when the doubt existed as to the final success of the $100 000 railroad subscription About the middle of the second week in January it became [illegible] of those who were most interested [illegible] entire sum of $100 000 would be raised and the transactions in real estate were resumed with even greater activity than before, and at higher ranges of prices These facts which the records show demonstrated the correctness of the predictions made at the outset of the [illegible] by Mr Stitzel and others in regard to the effect which the success or the failure of the enterprise would have upon real estate We recollect that at the second meeting at the Council Chamber Mr Stitzel stated his belief that the raising of the $100 000 would advance [illegible] property in the city fifteen or twenty per cent, while the failure to raise it would have a [illegible] depressing effect Enough has [illegible] to verify the general correctness of that [illegible] Real estate is now active under the belief that this subsidy will be raised but there is [illegible] for failure even now The subscription [illegible] to something over $61 000 and the remaining $39 000 is a large sum to raise from among those who have not yet subscribed Should the subsidy fail eventually, what may we expect the effect to be upon real property, when we remember that a mere doubt as to the result of an [illegible] only partly tried, had the effect to almost totally suspend transfers during the time such doubt existed Portland is not yet "out of the woods."

To the Confessional.—Puget Sound papers have long been fond of deriding this section of country as of little consequence The [illegible] was the center of gravity on the Northern [illegible] we here were merely tributary [illegible] week's rain has brought the [illegible] to a realizing sense of the situation, and the Olympia Transcript now comes to the confession in this style "This thing of having neither mails nor visitors from the Columbia river is getting monotonous A little of a thing of this kind (the less the better) does very well, it serves to vary a time honored routine, and variety is the spice of life' Not only is the reading community suffering for the want of something new to read, but hotels begin to suffer for the want of customers We enter our solemn protest against a longer continuance of the late terrible weather, and invoke the execrations of all good men" From all of which it would appear that the "Hub" is not where some people have thought it was; and that's what's the matter with Hannah

Temperance Meetings and Lectures.—Grand Worthy Chief Templar, C Beal, and Dr [illegible] State Lecturer, have the following appointments out Friday, January 27th, organize County Lodge at one o'clock P M at Salem, lecture at Aurora Saturday, January 28th, at two o'clock P. M, Hope Lodge Sunday, 29th, at two o'clock P M, dedicate Beaver Lodge Hall Monday evening, at 6½ o'clock P. M, dedicate Lone Star Lodge Hall Tuesday evening, at 6½ o'clock P M The dedication will be public, accompanied by a lecture.

T J Matlock, County W C T for Clackamas, has issued the following appointments for the meeting of the County Lodge with the subordinate lodges Marquam, No 45, Thursday, February 1st Rock Creek, No 42, Wednesday 2d, Beaver, No 107, Friday 3d, Willamette, No [illegible], Saturday, 4th, Hope, No 119 Monday, 20th, [illegible], No 57, Tuesday, 21st, Lone Star, No 84, Wednesday, 22d, Damascus, No 120, Thursday, 23d, Mt Zion, No 106, Friday, 24th, and Mt. Pleasant, No 105, Saturday, February 25th.

"Wrestling Joe"—Mr C Beal, who is making an official tour in Marion county, met near Fairfield, the other day, "Wrestling Joe," and wrote to the Good Templar of him as follows "While sitting by the fire next morning at Bro [illegible]'s, an old man approached the door on crutch having a lame foot Some one remarked that there comes a Portland property holder and soon the reputed father of Finice Caruthers, was seated by the fire He says he is six feet and one or two inches high, and although he cannot see a man fifty feet, yet he can read without specs, which he did He claims to be ninety-one years of age and says he may see a hundred yet is very fond of a good fire, and thinks the man who made the first stove should be hung. He says that near seventy years ago some liquor made him sick, and that he has not used any since, and also no tobacco"

Real Estate Sale at Auction.—Yesterday Mr A B Richardson sold at auction for the [illegible] heirs, lot 8 in block 30, Couch's Addition for $3,250 coin Mr Landenberger, of the Staats Zeitung, was the purchaser

Foreign Exports.—The steamship California, which sailed yesterday, took for the port of Victoria B. C, produce and merchandise to the value of $6,474 37 and $20 000 in coin

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The steamer Jane McNear is to have a new boiler, and to be generally overhauled.

A storm of such violence prevailed at Cape Horn on the Columbia on Wednesday, that the Oneonta had to lay to, in the middle of the river

The street floods of Wednesday did considerable damage to newly graded streets, in the upper and back portions of the city

A rowing club has been organized in this city, under the lead of John J Holland, D. C Nyhan, Geo H. Wood and P J Holland They have a four oared boat, thirty six feet long

Geo J Ainsworth, son of Capt J C Ainsworth of this city, has been appointed 4th Lieutenant in the Cadets of the California University

The new steamer Dixie Thompson made the run from Portland to Astoria, one day this week, in eight hours—the fastest time ever made

The Hall street church festival Wednesday evening, was well attended despite the bad weather and the receipts amounted to a handsome sum

Since the floods of Wednesday the streets in many parts of the city have been covered with debris of all sorts presenting anything but a neat or sightly appearance

AMUSEMENTS.

Oro Fino Theater.—This evening Mr J H Vinson will take a benefit and will produce for the occasion a grand dramatic and medley bill The opening will be the elegant comedy of "One Day of Married Life," Mr Vinson in the character of James Davis, and with Mr and Mrs. Bates in the cast This will be followed by a grand skating tournament and snowballing scene, the stage being cleared for the purpose The Rink will be closed to-night and Mr Bradford will act as director of ceremonies A prize of a magnificent pair of parlor skates will be awarded to the best skater The entertainment will close with the new local comedy of "A Sleep of a 100 Years or Portland as it will be in 1971" in which Mr Vinson will transform himself into Aminadab Slocum, one of the oldest sleepers on record This bill should draw a crowded house

The Skating Rink.—Talk about fun! The man who invented parlor skating understood the fun business to a nicety, and constructed the amusement, no doubt, in one of his moments of happiest inspiration It is no wonder the hall is crowded every day and night To add to the attractions of the place, Mr Bradford will have a band of music in attendance Saturday evening The hall will be open this morning and afternoon, but will be closed this evening

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS

Thursday, Jan 19, 1871

Hillery Cason and wife to Mary Rennison, lot 3 in block 116, East Portland, warranty deed, date Jan 11, 1871, consideration $400

Wm Peck to J. P. O Lownsdale; the south 18 feet by 100 feet of lot 1 in block 31, quitclaim deed, date Jan 10, 1871, consideration $5,000

Philip Cohn and wife to Moses Seller, lot 3 in block 86½, Raleigh's tract, warranty deed, date Jan 11, 1871, consideration $1,400

Ferdinand Opitz and wife to J S Schenck and H C Paige, lots 1 and 2 in block 320, warranty deed, date Dec 30, 1870, consideration $1,400

Peter A Wilson and wife to L H Lewis, lots 1, 4, 5 and 8, in block 74, Couch's Addition, warranty deed, date Jan 11, 1871, consideration $3,000

Isaac Rennison and wife to Hillery Cason and James Abraham, the east half of the northeast quarter of section 19, township 1 north, range 2 east, warranty deed, date Jan 11, 1871, consideration, $800.

James Mackey to Abram Woolstencroft, lot 7 in block 75, Couch Addition, bond for deed date July 16, 1870, consideration $200

Look Out.—The ordinance to provide for the taxing and killing of dogs which was passed Wednesday night is somewhat more stringent and to dog owners, more costive than the old one There is no salvation for the whelps except through a license and collar Collars without licenses won't do Anybody may seize a collarless dog and deliver him over for slaughter, and there is not, we believe, any days of grace as before in which the proprietor might reclaim his captive purp.

Another ordinance passed the same evening will play havoc with the present arrangement of signs, bulletin boards and other nuisances projecting or hanging over sidewalks They have all got to go up so that a man nine feet high can walk under them erect without harming a hair of his head And the other projecting nuisances have got to be taken in, for all which let us give thanks and be happy

State vs Neville and Fleming.—In this case Judge Upton rendered a decision yesterday, denying the application of the defendants. The decision in substance was that, under the law, the court could not receive testimony as upon an original proceeding or appeal, that the only question to be considered was whether the proceedings as shown by the record, in the court below were legal Finding that the court below had acted properly the proceedings under the habeas corpus were dismissed We learn that the counsel for the defendants will to day apply for a writ of review Both these proceedings raise points of law that are somewhat new to the practice under our statutes

Oregon Horticultural Society.—The officers and several members of this Society met in this city yesterday, for the purpose, mainly, of organizing a premium list for fine fruits, flowers, and garden vegetables, for the next State Fair. The arrangement of this list was not completed at 4 P M, when the Society adjourned to meet to-day at 9 A M The Society hold their meetings in the hall of the Good Templars, Carter's building, which was kindly furnished them by the officers of the lodge. After the completion of the premium list, the proceedings of to-day will probably interest fruit culturists, and those interested in this matter are cordially invited to be present.

Passengers for the North.—The propeller steamship California, Hayes, commander, sailed at 3 P M yesterday, for Victoria and Puget Sound, taking the following named passengers Mr A S Reese, Miss E Montgomery and nephew, A J Watson, Miss Kate Sanford, Col C H Larrabee, Miss Margaret Parshall, Huffermann, T Jaques, J Carr, Miss L Watson, I W Miller, J C Clark, C Young, Miss Eliza Francis, Allen Francis, Mrs M Jay and two children, Clendening.

Additional Freight.—In addition to the freight with which the bark Gungner sailed from this port she will take at Astoria about one hundred and seventy five tons of wheat The steamer Dixie Thompson took down a part of that quantity on Wednesday, and will take the balance of it to day The bark will probably go to sea on Sunday or Monday

Alone.—The departure of the steamship California, yesterday, leaves the bark Tenant Propositu the only sea going vessel in this port It is the first time in many months when there was only one vessel here The appearance of the shores is decidedly bare and lonely

Business Notice.—The inventor of umbrellas was a public benefactor, and the man who makes 'em is of kin to him Mr A O Servenay has opened a manufactory of umbrellas at No 19 Morrison street—the first shop of the kind in this city

Officers to be Chosen.—The Directors of the Willamette Hotel Company will hold a meeting Saturday to elect officers of the Board for the current year

RUBBER AND LEATHER BELTING FARM WAGONS
GRASS SEEDS ETC ETC

The particular attention of the Farming Community is called to our recent importation of Improved MOLINE PLOWS greatly superior to any other Moline Plow in the Market, notwithstanding a certain firm somewhat noted for truth and veracity—so called—persist in a crying that they are bogus California made &c

Don't fail to call and look at one of the MOLINE PLOW Co's LATEST MAKE and we think you will coincide with a Yamhill Farmer who after looking round and hearing the old story about bogus Molines, etc delivered himself thusly "Well Myers, I'll just chance a couple of those new plows and if they are 'bogus' as that gassy chap above here says I'll be d——rned if I won't take bogus in mine every time"

Next month we expect another shipment of those justly celebrated BAIN WAGONS, (Have now only a few left of the last lot) STILL FURTHER IMPROVED over all heretofore received It is not presumption on our part to say that they are head and shoulders above any other Farm wagon in market in point of material, workmanship and finish having achieved a reputation throughout the West and wherever introduced on the Pacific, second to no other wagon Some of the first sold here—three years ago—have never yet had a tire re-set and our experience has enabled us to order many changes and improvements over the ordinary make of western wagons to meet the wants and requirements of this coast. We shall sell the BAIN WAGON at the lowest possible price for a first-class wagon and WARRANT them such and in this connection beg to caution purchasers not to confound them with inferior makes that others are or may endeavor to sell on the strength of the established reputation of the Bain manufacture particularly after having made repeated and persistent efforts (without avail) to purchase wagons of Mr Bain for this market

ELOPEMENT EXTRAORDINARY.—At Locust Grove, a settlement in Newtown, Queens county, the house of Groff, an editor of a tobacco journal, and seemingly well to do, was a few days since found open, and the furniture, household utensils and valuables, together with the family, among the missing. It seems that about two months since Groff started on a commercial trip to Europe, and took with him his little daughter, a child of ten years of age, leaving Mrs. Groff, a handsome and engaging woman of thirty-five years of age, to await his return, which is expected soon.

All the luxuries that a fond and doting husband could lavish upon his wife—a handsome carriage, horses, splendid furniture, a house fitted up with all the modern improvements, books, paintings, etc. were hers, together with an interesting little daughter, the pride of the household. Cash in bank, ample for every exigency, was left for the disposal of the wife. Hardly had Groff got beyond the shores of the country on his outward bound trip, before a visitor made his appearance in the person of a young, sleek looking man, with down on his upper lip, whose attentions to the wife and mother began to attract notice. This personage was Latting, not yet twenty-one years of age. It is reported that he has been seen coming from the house late at night, and instead of making his exit from the natural opening, leaping out of a bedroom window. Sunday night furniture began to be removed, and before morning not a vestige remained. The horses were found in a stable at Hunter's Point, where the couple had left them after taking the ferry boat for New York. The whereabouts of the parties are not now known. A week or two since Mrs. Groff commenced to make up extra dresses, and the supposition is that they left for Europe.—N. Y. Times, Dec. 28.

Women in America wear warmer underclothing than ever before, and it may truthfully be said that their average dress is more [illegible] than it has been at any other time [illegible] century. Boots, thick and high, [illegible] soles—though truly [illegible] this advantage. [illegible] unduly cultivated, [illegible] and consump[illegible]. Plumpness and full waists are the mode [illegible] fitting dresses [illegible] the bust is a custom obsolete [illegible] even the Pompadour [illegible] of lace. The verdict of the [illegible] fashion is that to dress to "the lower edge of modesty" is as destructive of [illegible] health as it is ruinous to personal purity. The head gear is an exception to the salutary tendency of the times, and the now [illegible] man-milliner of Paris spreads neu[illegible] to the ends of the earth.

The reason of the strange disappearance of Sam Houston in the early part of his life, when he left a lovely bride and the governorship of Tennessee and exiled himself among the Indians for many years has lately been revealed. He discovered within a few hours after his marriage that his wife did not love him, but had been urged into the match by an ambitious family, while loving another man. He at once retired from the house, and [illegible] gave the lady a right [illegible] she obtained.

Gold at New York, 110⅝.

Legal tenders, at Portland, 90½c.

Exchange on San Francisco, [illegible], ¼ of 1 per cent.; [illegible] per cent.

Exchange on New York, 1½ per cent.; telegraph transfers 1½ per cent.

5-20 bonds quotable at 108½@111 for 1862 and [illegible].

Rates of interest unchanged, at 1@1½ per cent.

Oregon Bounty and Relief bonds, 85a87½c; State warrants, 87½ [illegible].

There is greater activity in the merchandise market than there had been reason to expect. In the line of dry goods there is but little doing, as the season is pretty well advanced for winter styles, and it is too early yet for the opening of spring goods; but in hardware and grocery lines there has been a very fair trade during the week. There is also some trade in certain kinds of agricultural goods, and farmers and gardeners are beginning to look out for seeds for early spring sowing.

We have but few changes in quotations to note in this market. Candles are a little firmer, and Grant's are advanced a trifle. We quote Bolter's Oregon Brooms down 75 cents per dozen on each grade. The kerosene market is much demoralized, and lots could be purchased at reduced figures. We find [illegible] differ somewhat as to prices, but there cannot be said to be any established price. We quote all brands down from 5 to 10 cents, and a further decline within a short time would not be matter of surprise.

Our produce tables show quite a number of changes in quotations. Wheat is stiff at an advance of 5 cents per bushel. Oats are also firm at 50 cents—an advance. Flour—all leading brands, such as Imperial, Standard, etc., are jobbing at $6 50 per barrel, and good country brands in proportion. This is a material advance, but it is not out of proportion to the figures at which wheat is held in the interior. The jobbing rates for all sorts of feed are advanced nearly 25 per cent.

Provisions—Bacon, hams and shoulders are still cheaper, and purchasers are coy about buying even at the ruling prices. Butter is a little higher, and first qualities are in demand. Dried apples have advanced to 5½ cents per pound. Eggs are dull, and retail rates are a little lower. Potatoes are rather scarce in the market and prices are enhanced.

The following is a list of the produce shipments to San Francisco, per steamer Oriflamme, on Tuesday: 2,239 boxes apples; 2,291 barrels of flour; 3,350 sacks flax seed; 31 packages woolen goods; 93 cases and 24 gunnies hams and bacon; 162 boxes eggs; 20 bales wool; 20 barrels pork; 20 half barrels butter; 60 half barrels dried apples. Total, 515 tons.

The shipments to foreign ports thus far in January, aggregate larger than for any equal period in the history of this port. The departure of the Gungner, on Tuesday, swelled the total value for this month to $84,256 15. For the month of December the total foreign shipments were valued at $39,299.

The following is a statement of the freight with which the bark Gungner left this port: 12,424 sacks wheat, equal to 25,885 bushels, or 1,552,949 pounds, valued at $29,409 67. She will take at Astoria about 175 tons in addition to the above, to be forwarded by the river steamers. She sails to Liverpool under charter to Messrs. Corbitt & Macleay of this city.

LAND DEPARTMENT

OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON, October 22, 1870.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd-numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands co-terminous with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 12 M. February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870.

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government: The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees, and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE U. S. FOR THE DIStrict of Oregon.—Whereas, information has been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, on the 6th day of January, 1871, on behalf of the United States by J. C. Cartwright, Esq., Attorney of the said United States for the District aforesaid, against one large wooden tank of Beer containing about 200 gallons; three large empty wooden tanks; one small empty wooden tank with pump; five hogsheads of Beer containing 100 gallons each; two hogsheads of Beer containing 60 gallons each; three barrels of Beer containing 40 gallons each; sixteen kegs of Beer containing 10 gallons each; eight kegs of Beer containing 5 gallons each; two empty casks, capacity 40 gallons, one empty cask, capacity 100 gallons; twenty four empty kegs, capacity 5 gallons each, two empty kegs, capacity 15 gallons each; fifteen empty kegs, capacity 10 gallons each; one malt mill, and one horse power; one force pump and hose; one malt dryer; one metal cooler; one copper brew kettle, capacity 200 gallons; one malt scoop iron; one malt scoop wood; one pump not in use; two earthen jars; one sprinkler; one funnel, two ladles; one thermometer; one tin gallon measure, two wrenches; two branding irons; one burning iron; one iron rake; two hundred beer bungs; one seive; one Fairbank's scales, which by Wilson Bowlby, Esq., Collector of Internal Revenue for the District of Oregon, on the 29th day of November, 1870, at Corvallis, in said District of Oregon, was seized as forfeited to the use of the said United States, for the reasons and causes in said information mentioned, and praying the usual process and monition of the said Court in that behalf to be made, and that all persons interested in the said one large wooden tank of Beer, &c., may be cited in general and special, to answer the premises, and all due proceedings being had that the said property above mentioned may, for the causes in the said information mentioned, be condemned as forfeited to the use of the said United States. Now, therefore, in pursuance of the Warrant under the seal of said Court, to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give public notice to all persons claiming the said above mentioned goods or any part thereof, or in any manner interested therein, that they be and appear before the said District Court to be held at the city of Portland, in the county of Multnomah, in said District of Oregon, on the 6th day of March next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day if the same shall be a day of jurisdiction, otherwise, on the next day of jurisdiction thereafter, then and there to interpose a claim and to make their allegations in that behalf.

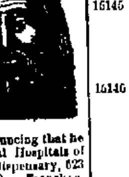
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life! In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz. Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, [illegible] flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove that [illegible] cily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those [illegible] contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies [illegible] sacred [illegible] resting upon them not delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument to effect a perfect and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME

Persons at a distance may [illegible] by addressing a letter to [illegible] symptoms, length of time [illegible] have medicine promptly [illegible] curiosity, to any [illegible] directions [illegible] letter through the Post Office, or through Wells Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded [illegible] of the Union.
